This is the first of four articles on Japan as it is today, seen through the eyes of a famed war correspondent who last saw it under the devastation of World War II. The author, Clark Lee, went through the climactic actions of the war in the Pacific as a correspondent for International News Service. Now, he has visited the new Japan under occupation, and the articles that begin herewith give his vivid and searching impressions of what he found.

TOKYO.—(INS)—Scores of camp fires sent their smoke curling through the scrubby trees in the park facing Japan's Imperial Palace. Amid low-slung pup tents there was a sudden, unexpected glimpse of the flag hauled down in surrender four years ago—the blood red rising sun emblem of a militaristic, war-crazed nation.

In an adjoining open plaza on the Imperial grounds, a baseball game was in progress, the little fielders cleverly following each erratic hop of the ball on the pavement.

Farther along, also on the Emperor's once sacred property, model airplanes were launched in short flights by small boys who dreamed, perhaps of the meats of the "fierce Imperial war eagles," now long since dead in the skies of Midway, Guadalcanal and Okinawa.

Nearby, hundreds of fish poles dangled in the palace moat, but the Imperial carp ignored the plebeian bait.

All these sights—the 3,000 encamped Boy Scouts, the sports and contests just outside the huge stone walls of the moat-encircled palace—were eloquent evidence of the changes brought about in four years of American occupation during which a new "democratized" Japan has been born.

But not far away, a centuries-old, familiar rite was in progress. Individually and in little groups, citizens of the new Japan were walking across a quarter mile of broad pavement to bow deeply in reverence to Emperor Hirohito—still

FRENCH AUTO WORKERS DEMAND WAGE INCREASE

CHOKING THE STREET outside the great Renault plant in Paris, thousands of French auto workers stage a demonstration for a wage increase. They seek boost of 15 francs (about four cents) per hour, and an extra allowance of 5,000 francs to meet spiraling living costs. Their action is typical of the economic unrest in France which caused Premier Henri Queuille to resign recently. Socialist Interior Minister Jules Moch, who has been asked to form a new cabinet, is reported favoring a program to slash prices and raise wages. (International)

Prior to the tour, Commander William H. Ginn, public relations officer at the base, told of the activities of the Naval Air Corps Reserve, members of which undergo training at the base once a week.

No other nation pays as much attention to books for children as the United States, Miss Mary Harvey, director of the school library of a publishing firm, told about 90 persons at the meeting of the Warminster Township Parent-Teacher Association.

Murray's Appeal Indicates Long Strikes

Washington—Philip Murray's proposal for an AFL-CIO-Mine Workers pact today underscored the possibility of long and costly strikes in the coal and steel industries. Murray's call for a united labor effort to finance all of labor's strike battles came as the 17-day-old steel walk-out spread to nine aluminum plants employing 14,000 workers. The strike rolls in the two major walkouts now stands at 900,000 men. Commerce Secretary Sawyer predicts that the spreading effects of the coal and steel shutdowns will swell unemployment to eight and one-half million workers if the strike continues for 45 days.

Says 1949 Worst Polio Year

Atlanta—The surgeon general of the United States predicted today that 1949 will prove to be the worst polio year in the history of the disease. Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele told America's public health officers in Atlanta that "there has been a marked upward trend of poliomyelitis since 1943."

"Robert was down and writhing and screaming. I stepped back a little and shot him again in the head to put him out of his misery." Lt. Ream quoted him as saying the gun discharged, striking Robert in the head, right after Richard had said to the boy: "Look, Bobby, this is the kind of gun they used in Wild West days. Come out in the alley and we'll shoot it."

Thousands of Gullible Americans Are Aiding and Abetting
Communists, Says Mrs. E. Wyatt Payne, Nationally-Known Educator and Republican Worker — Meeting Held at Doylestown.

(Special)
DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 17.—The Republican Party is the only hope of freedom-loving peoples in the rapidly approaching showdown with the Socialists and the Communists, Mrs. E. Wyatt Payne, of Huntington, W. Va., nationally known educator, lecturer and Republican worker, told a mass-meeting in the Armory here Saturday.

"Thousands of gullible Americans are aiding and abetting the Communists in working for the overthrow of our country," she declared in the course of an inspiring address to the Bucks County Republican Committee's annual meeting. The other principal speaker was the Hon. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, Congressman of the Bucks-Lehigh district.

"The battlelines are forming for a final battle between the Star of Bethlehem and the Red Star of Russia. It's up to the Republican Party to see that the Star of Bethlehem prevails."

"In the fight against socialism and communism, every American is born with two impervious suits of armor. One is his faith in God and one is his faith in his country. All Americans are born with a ladder which they are free to scale to unlimited success. That's the American formula. It's an irreplaceable formula. It's irreplaceable because God created it. He created it to make us a free people."

"It doesn't make any difference where the Communists are, whether they go underground or stay above the surface, so long as the American people know the score. That's where the great duty of the Republican Party comes in—to tell the truth about the Republican Party and the American nation."

Mrs. Payne, who has conducted a national survey of the extent of socialist and communist propaganda infiltration into schools which has taken her into the educational systems of every state, devoted much of her talk to an expose of the manner in which the minds of American youth are being contaminated.

"When Hitler wanted to introduce his new philosophy into Germany," she said, "the first thing he did was to take over the school text-books. Russia did the same, and so have all the other recent dictatorships."

"If you want to know what the cause is of the great wave of uncertainty and doubt which has engulfed the American people, look at the schoolbooks your children are studying."

"Where are the symbols of this great nation—the pictures of Washington, of Lincoln, of Jefferson—pictures of the American flag?"

"They have largely disappeared as a result of a communist movement which got its start in New York City, and has spread to the littlest and most remote schools. Understand, I am not talking about any individual schools, but the schools as a whole. I am not talking about individual teachers. I'm not trying to tell you that all teachers are teaching communism, or that most of them are teaching it. Probably 99 per cent of our teachers are loyal and patriotic Americans. But the other one per cent is teaching communism and socialism most of the time."

Prospects of a new Hemingway novel written as the result of a shooting accident are exciting . . . He is believed to be the first author to be shot before publication.

NO information about the plot has been made available and none has leaked so obviously it doesn't concern the Navy.

Incidentally the Department of Defense is sponsoring an all-service television program starting Oct. 30 . . . Look for it in the television listings under "Flights from Washington."

I don't say the fight fever is spreading but it is significant that NOT many of us plain citizens ever heard of Lord Boyd Orr who won this year's Nobel Peace Prize.

But anybody can tell you that even Shirley Temple has grown up enough to quarrel.

All I know is that Reno and Las Vegas have been pulling steadily ahead of Niagara Falls and neither of them has a waterfall.

GOP is The Only Hope of Freedom-Loving Peoples, Speaker Tells Audience

Mrs. Payne told a number of stories to illustrate the manner in which Americanism has been played down in public schools, and various other alien doctrines promoted in its stead. In one school she visited, for instance, the only picture in the classroom was that of Joseph Stalin. She asked the principal where the pictures were of early American patriots, and why the Stalin picture was being displayed. The principal informed her indifferently, she said, that the school belonged to a picture club, and the Stalin portrait was what had been sent.

"The fact is that most American youngsters aren't being taught respect and love for their country. It wouldn't make any difference what the Communists told them, if they knew some of the truth. But they aren't being taught enough facts to combat propaganda."

"Do you want to know the quickest test of a text-book, to tell whether it is teaching Americanism or something else?"

"Turn through it and see whether it tells, even once, that this American nation has been a success. Most of the text-books are 'objective,' and they boast of 'seeing both sides,' and the result is that the child who studies them never learns that for 150 years this was the fastest-growing, freest, most prosperous country that the world has ever seen."

"I can tell you how to know whether your own child is being exposed to communism and socialist propaganda at school. If the youngster comes home, and begins questioning the success of the American Way of Life, then you can know immediately that the child has either the wrong teacher or the wrong text-book."

Mrs. Payne took the Republican Party severely to task for not having met the challenge of communist propaganda long ago.

"Last year," she said, "the Republicans didn't go down the line. That's why we were defeated. When we have gone down the line for Americanism, we have won. When we have compromised, we have lost the respect of the voters of America."

She protested vigorously about the manner in which many Republicans meekly permit their opponents to hang "tags" on them.

"Take that tag-line of 'Hoover Depression.' That was invented by Charley Michaelson. Was it true? No. But it still haunts us, because not enough Republicans have had the courage to rise up and brand it a falsehood."

"Take the word 'conservative.' A lot of Republicans are scared of it. Yet it is a fine word, a patriotic word, a good Republican word. But when the New Dealers put the tag on our party, we didn't fight back. And a lot of Republicans have been trying to call themselves 'liberal' simply to get away, not from facts, but from a word."

"Here's another one: 'Both parties are the same.' Did you ever hear that? But it isn't so. Basically, and fundamentally, the two parties are different."

"Then there are those words, 'Democracy' and 'Republic.' Recently I heard a young Republican speaker use the word 'democracy' seventeen times in ten minutes. I took him aside and told him that the founders of this country had carefully made it a republic instead of a democracy, and that the communists had been spreading the propaganda that we are a democracy simply because it is a proven fact that a true democracy is the type of government most apt to drift into dictatorship."

"Remember what Benjamin Franklin said when asked our form of government: 'a republic—if we can keep it.' And let's tell the world that we are going to keep it! It aids and abets the communists whenever you call this a 'democracy.'"

"Let's work for the time when the schools can again become symbols of American liberty, where children are taught to love and respect their own country."

"And as Republicans let us never forget, and never cease to preach, that socialism is always destined to be a failure—it cannot work—it can only bring trouble to the American people if we try it."

"I can give you a thumb-nail description of why socialism can't work, and never will be able to work. It was read recently into the record of the House of Parliament."

"Socialism is bound to fail because it puts welfare first. That means subsidizing inefficiency. That means, no profits. And no profits mean no welfare!"

She discussed the recent New York trial of pro-communists, and expressed gratification that the American processes of justice had been able to reach out and stop the open work of the communists seeking to overthrow the U. S. government."

She warned, however, that the open efforts at revolution were nowhere near as dangerous as the hidden use of propaganda, which is, she declared, reaching into many other fields besides that of education.

One of the needs of the nation, she added, is some new and workable laws to reach and curb the communists in all their activities which are subversive.

"Congress should put on the statutes that fine line of distinction between treason and civil liberties," she declared.

"The cause of all the troubles which the Republican Party has had in recent years," she said, "is that some of us have failed to stand up and be counted for what we and the party believe in. We've got to revive and reinstate all those beliefs. We've got to fight the communistic and socialistic doctrine that this nation has been a failure, and we've got to go before the American people and show them the truth, which is that the Republican Party has done far more for the American people than any other party in history—and that includes the New Deal."

"And the time to start is now. It's later than you think!"

Mrs. Payne was introduced by Bucks County's Republican Vice Chairman, Mrs. Ada L. Buckman, who described the many fields of activity which have given the speaker a nation-wide reputation.

"It is a great pleasure to stand before this outpouring of Republicans," Congressman Lichtenwalter said in the other principal address of the meeting. "I wish that a spark might take hold here and move through the other counties of the state and throughout the U. S. A."

"These are difficult times. It is hard to tell which way to turn to save sound Constitutional government in America."

"Security—that's the watchword just now, and of course it's what we all desire. But the big question isn't whether we want security—it's how much we are willing to pay. Are we willing to sell all the freedom and liberty which the American people have enjoyed since the founding of our national government?"

"The present Administration is offering the American people a plan of security, but it is asking the severe penalty of surrendering all freedom of choice and freedom of enterprise."

"Are we going to sit idly by and see our country sold down the river? This is an important election—it's not an 'off year.' This is as important an election as you could encounter."

"We are all looking forward to 1950 and 1952, in the state and nation, but we will fail miserably unless we roll up a huge Republican majority this coming November."

"Our opponents will count all the offices, and make much ado unless we determine to roll up a tremendous majority—which can be done."

"In Washington there is one bill after another which would throw us over into socialism, bills which might be passed if the Administration's hand was further strengthened by even a little success in these elections."

"There is, for example, the Spence Bill, which contains provisions that would regulate the private life of every citizen in America. It has an entire program of the welfare-state program of regulation."

"It is time those in charge of our national affairs at Washington show some honesty and integrity in dealing with the American people."

"There was an announcement in the papers the other day that the nations who are in the Atlantic Pact with us were going to sit down together and list their needs. But the next day Congress was informed that the Administration had the whole thing already worked out. They had the money for the weapons, and they were going to give them away, whether the foreign nations wanted them or needed them."

"It seems that there are plenty of arms for Europe, but the friends of the National Guard, meeting all over the country in buildings such as this, find it impossible to get from their government the equipment which is necessary for their training."

"The spending at Washington continues. How much will it aid and succor the liberty-loving people of the world, if we become a bankrupt nation. This year the government is spending at least six billion dollars more than it is taking in taxes."

"And yet last year the 'take' in taxes, in the Middle Atlantic states such as Pennsylvania, ran to the staggering total of $1500 per family. Now the government is talking about inflating the dollar, by raising the price of gold, so that the average American family income will rise to $4000 a year. If that happens, then the price of everything the family must buy will rise accordingly, and the family will have no more dollars in the bank at the end of the year than it does now. The main difference will be that the higher income, in number of devalued dollars, will carry many families which are now tax-exempt, up to a rate where they will have to pay part of their earnings to the government in income taxes."

Republican County Chairman A. Harry Clayton presided at the meeting.

The Republican slate of candidates for the November election in county officers was presented as follows: J. Hart Jamison, for Recorder of Deeds; Joseph A. Keating, for Prothonotary; Harry H. Ross, for Sheriff; Willard S. Curtin, for District Attorney; Howard G. Krupp, for Controller. J. Robert Hendricks, candidate for Jury Commissioner, was unable to be present.

Judge Hiram H. Keller, nominated by both parties for re-election, was presented and spoke briefly. Presented also was the Hon. Edward G. Biester, former District Attorney who was recently appointed to Judge. Assemblymen Marvin V. Keller and Wilson Yearke, representing Bucks County in the State Legislature, each took a bow. The call for the meeting was read by the County Committee secretary, State Senator Edward B. Watson.

Seated on the stage with Mrs. Payne, and presented to the audience, were the following Republican women leaders of Bucks County: Mrs. Howard R. Kooker, of Quakertown, and Miss Eleanor Worthington, of Hartsville, both of them past presidents of the Bucks County Council of Republican Women; Mrs. Mary Dunn, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Loyal Republican Club of Buckingham; and Mrs. Eleanor Lear, of Doylestown, president of the Bucks County Council of Republican Women.

AUTUMN

We've had a lot of Summer to hold Now Autumn; crimson, yellow and gold

Invites us in to tea with Fall And who can resist her winsome call?

Quite suddenly the crops are in: Their own receptive sheltered bin: The fields in stubble are attired. The old scare-crow is duly fired

And here and there now playing possum

We see a stubborn little blossom. The apple orchard still retains. The spotlight for its extra pains To make the apple every bit

As tempting as Eve painted it. The birds discuss a warm retreat. Perhaps in far off Martinique; The lucky things, they know it not. They have a gift we haven't got.

Sunsets take on an extra glow. The harvest moon is hanging low And up above a brilliant crew Of stars peep through the midnight blue.

Jack-Frost tunes up with salt and soap

To take the kinks out of his hope, Eager to get out and declare His frosty trademark everywhere. Impossible to choose I guess. Which season gives us more or less:

Snowflakes, Spring flowers and Summer's thunder

All fill our hearts with transient wonder.

And Autumn now is just one riot Of beauty, but don't try to buy it. For Nature has no special pets

What he gives the rich the poor man gets.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. John C. Kulp
Pastor
Hulmeville Methodist Church

While standing with our little two year old niece in the surf this summer, we would let her jump around and enjoy the water by her self as long as she did not go too far out into deeper water. Occasionally, however, a wave, larger than usual, would roll in. Our niece would see that it would be too deep for her and she instinctively shot her hand up to one of our waiting hands. We did not lift her out of the water, but grasped her hand protectively and reassuringly. This happened over and over again and it reminded me of our relation to our heavenly Father. We are bound to get into deep water all through life. Waves of perplexity, doubt, fear and tragedy roll toward us that look as if they would engulf us. We should instinctively look to the reassuring and saving heavenly Father. He, too, is always ready to reach down His helpful hand. "Underneath are the everlasting arms." "He shall bear thee up." Putting our trust in God, find that He does not always lift us out of a perilous or troublesome situation, but allows the waves to swirl around us, all the while reassuring us of His love and guidance and protection.

Three Young Women Attendants At Ceremony

Attended by three young women, Miss Alice Lanza was escorted to the altar of St. Ann's R. C. Church, yesterday at 11 a. m., there to take the vows which made her the wife of Mr. John DiBonaventura. The Rev. Peter Pinci was the officiating clergyman. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Aleno Lanza, 239 Dorance street, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand DiBonaventura, Burlington, N. J. Miss Frances Tambarelli presided at the organ and Joseph Galzerano was the vocalist.

For her bridal day the localite chose a long gown, train, of white satin and lace. Rhinestones, pearl beads and sequins trimmed the bodice, and the sleeves were long. French illusion formed her veil, this being lace-edged. It was attached to a crown of pearl beads and rhinestones. In her hands she carried three orchids—one lavender and two white.

American beauty gowns of bengaline were worn by the attendants of the bride, namely Miss Gilda DiBonaventura, Burlington, sister of the bridegroom, who was maid of honor; Miss Elvira Ricci, 1119 Cherry street, and Mrs. George Josibon, 142 Buckley street, sister of the bride, who were bridesmaids. The costumes were floor length, had short sleeves and V-necklines. With these were worn net stoles; beaded tiars to match the dress tone, silver slippers; and each carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

Mr. James Ficatto, Morrisville, was best man for Mr. DiBonaventura; and serving in the capacity of usher was Mr. George Josibon.

The bride's mother wore blue crepe with black accessories while the bridegroom's mother wore blue satin and black accessories. Both wore lavender orchids.

Dinner was partaken of by members of the bridal party at Roma Gardens, Trenton, N. J.; and in the evening many relatives and friends gathered for the reception in St. Paul's hall, Burlington.

Entraining for two weeks honeymoon in Florida, the former Miss Lanza was attired in a green gabardine suit with bead trim; green hat, black accessories; and wore three orchids. The couple will reside for the present at 239 Dorance street.

The bride presented her attendants with rhinestone necklaces. Mr.

DiBonaventura gave his attendants lighters. The bridegroom served in the U. S. Army following World War II, spending some time in Europe.

ST. ANN'S WINS; WILLOW GROVE IN GAME HERE

A powerful and driving St. Ann's A. A. aggregation increased its lead in the Northeast Football Conference by registering its fourth straight triumph yesterday afternoon on Memorial Park field. The Willow Grove Vets were the victims with the final score being 21-6.

The St. Ann's line stood out in the triumph with its continual charging in to get their men. Time and time again, the highly-touted Willow Grove attack was stalled in its tracks by the St. Ann's forward wall. The visitors had but four downs, two of which were made in the air.

No matter whom the St. Ann's coaches put into the line, there was no let-down in the playing as the line went after the opposition like charging bulls. Stan Lelinski, who played the second half of the tilt, was the biggest thorn as he broke up play after play set up by the invaders and also intercepted the pass which led to the St. Ann's final touchdown.

Coaches "Pete" Bornice, Joe Roe, and Salvatore Seneca used practically every regular player on the bench with the exception of "Bill" Marion. Marion's knee injury was still bothering him so he was rested for the game with Tacony next week.

In chalking up their fourth consecutive win, the "Saints" were led by John Antoni, formerly of West Chester State Teachers College, and Joe Napoli, of Lock Haven State Teachers College, and Leo Fiorelli. The 72-yard touchdown run by Antoni in the second quarter was the most spectacular scamper executed to perfection in the play with the runner waiting nicely for his interference to form and then reversing and side-stepping enough to score the touchdown.

"Sandy" Johnson, of the Vets, had got off a nice boot which rolled out of bounds on the St. Ann's 28-yard line. On the first play, Antoni went around right end. He was trapped while his blockers took out two Willow Grove players to get him out into the open. Once there, he again slowed up so that "Mickey" Iannucci could take out two more "Vets" to give Antoni clear sailing. The only player left to get the runner was Johnson but he could not reach the fleet-footed St. Ann's back, although he made one wild lunge near the goal-line.

The touchdown scored by Antoni was the second of the tilt for the Bristol team for shortly after the second quarter opened. "Howie" Keys crossed the goal-line on a pass from Joe Elmer. "Al" Iannucci had recovered a Willow Grove fumble on the latter's 35 to give St. Ann's possession and Antoni on a drive got as far as the 22. Two plays netted six yards and then a pass was grounded. On fourth down, Elmer tossed the pass towards Keys. Craven, of the visitors, hit the ball but Keys caught the deflection on the 10-yard line and went over.

Willow Grove made its TD in the second quarter. "Marv" Collins kicked to the Willow Grove 45. The invaders' back fumbled the ball but the officials ruled that it was recovered by Willow Grove. "Doug" Summers shot a pass to Lawrence Leonard who caught it on the St. Ann's 40 and went the remaining distance to score. Johnson missed the conversion attempt.

The Vets threatened at the start of the second half and made three first downs in succession to haul the pigskin from their 25-yard line to the St. Ann's 30 before losing the ball on downs. Their march netted them 45 yards with Johnson leading the attack.

On receiving the ball, Antoni and Leo Fiorelli took the ball out of the danger zone and on two plays carried it to the Willow Grove 40 before giving way on downs. Just when the "Saints" appeared to be on their way to Touchdownland again, they were set back 30 yards on two successive penalties.

This forced Collins to punt which he did nicely, the ball going out on the Willow Grove 15. The visitors lost yardage on two plays and then went into the air but Stan Lelinski intercepted on the 19. Myernich checked off two yards. Napoli was stopped on the first attempt at the line but on the second try, he broke loose and raced 17 yards for the touchdown.

"Buck" Proffy stepped into the placement kicker's role after the three touchdowns and on each occasion split the uprights for the extra point.

Joe Elmer, "Al" Iannucci, and "Howie" Keys suffered injuries in the game to add to the mounting casualty list. Although banged up a bit, several players who were still nursing injuries donned their uniforms and saw action.

Next Sunday, the "Saints" will travel to Tacony to play the Tacony Boys' Club.

BENSALEM TIES FOR FIRST PLACE IN SCHOOL LEAGUE

MORRISVILLE, Oct. 17 — Bensalem Township, co-champion of the 1948 Lower Bucks County League, moved into a tie for first place Saturday night by scoring a 15-0 surprise victory over Morrisville High before 1500 fans on the Robert Morris field.

The unpredictable Bensalem team was at its best against the Bulldogs and stopped all the Morrisville attempts to score. The Owls scored touchdowns in the first and final quarters and added a safety in the second session.

Coach Marlon VanHorn's boys, beaten twice and tied in its last three starts, let out all their fury against the Morrisville team. Its first touchdown was registered after a sustained drive of 60 yards. The Bensalem backs gained yardage after yardage on Morrisville until the two-yard line was reached. From here, Warren Brady plunged over for the six-pointer.

The seventh point was made when Al Bader tossed a pass to Jack Ward.

The Owls' added two more points in the second quarter on a safety. Bob Felver, one of the leading candidates for All-County back, was hit behind his goal-line by two Bensalem linemen for the score.

It was Jack Ward who made the last touchdown for the Bensalem team. Morrisville was driven deep into its own territory and "Johnny" Marucci attempted to boot out of danger. But the kick was bad, and grabbed by Ward on the 29-yard line. He then scampered the remaining distance without a hand being laid on him. "Eddie" Oliver attempted a drop-kick for the extra point and failed.
